A Note From The Scout Executive...

The council recently hosted its annual business meeting and recognition dinner where we honored 24 deserving volunteers with the Silver Beaver Award.

Every year I am awed by the tremendous commitment of our adult volunteers, and this class was no exception. Hearing their Scouting stories and experiences reminded me once again why the Greater St. Louis Area Council is truly one of the best in the nation and why I'm humbled and proud to serve as your Scout Executive.

As the dog days of summer wind down and we prepare for another adventurous Scouting year, we know fall recruitment is right around the corner. Recruitment happens all year long, but we know more youth join during the start of school than any other time of the year — to the tune of approximately 5,000 new families.

But still, Scouting serves just 8.34 percent of Scout-aged youth in our region. With your help, we can instill the values of the Scout Oath and Scout Law to even more children with a successful fall recruitment campaign.

The council will once again help spread the word through channels such as billboards, television commercials, and bus banners, but we need your help too. Contact local businesses in your community for permission to hang posters, host a Scout booth at community and back-to-school events, put a notice in your church bulletin, or use yard signs to promote sign-up nights. Most importantly though, ask your neighbors, co-workers, and fellow parishioners to join Scouting.

If Scouting has touched your life and made a positive impact, please help us ensure that Scouting continues to be enjoyed by future generations by making a special effort this fall.

Yours in Scouting,

Ronald S. Green

EARLIER this year, Christopher Colletti joined an elite group as he became just the second Venturer in the nation to earn the Dr. Albert Einstein Supernova Gold Award. This third-level Supernova Award requires the Venturer to develop a research project for a current STEM-related concern and present a written report and oral presentation to the council Nova committee.

“I did research on autonomous vehicles, a glider, for flights in other atmospheres,” Christopher said. “My specific one was I looked at the atmosphere of Titan, which is a moon around Saturn, and analyzed the possibility of sending a glider mission to Titan to collect data on the atmosphere in Titan itself.”

If that topic sounds daunting, that’s because it was. Christopher, who is double majoring in both aerospace and mechanical engineering at Parks College, spent 10 weeks on the project logging approximately 400 hours on his research.

Helping Christopher along the way were two very dedicated mentors in STEM committee member Lisa Balbes and Dr. Ray LeBeau.

“He has much more advanced skills than our typical sophomore student does,” Dr. LeBeau, assistant professor at Parks College of Engineering, Aviation and Engineering, said of Christopher. “Basically, I handed him a couple of books, a couple of references, and he started putting it all together. We talked a few times a week to go over a few things, but really he just took that ball and went with it. Getting that kind of dedication, that kind of interest is a rare thing, particularly for someone who hasn’t even finished his sophomore year and is still developing their technical skills.”

This summer, Christopher will continue to learn and develop his skills as he completes an internship at NASA, where he will be working on a vehicle analysis branch that uses composites in different ways in some of the systems on the vehicles.

“I hope to do vehicle design for defense,” Christopher said of his career aspirations. “Another option is just going down a more research side and working developmental technologies and different areas for that.”

Oh, and just in case you are wondering about his Supernova Gold Award project... turns out, sending a glider to Titan might actually be conceivable.

“Conclusion drawn was that it looks like it is possible and feasible to send a glider mission to Titan, and I’ve actually been talking to Dr. LeBeau and will be continuing to look into this possibility with other planets to see if this mission can be developed for more than just Titan.”

NOVA Awards Expand Cubs’ Horizons

Three new NOVA Awards are now available for Cub Scouts: Down And Dirty (earth science), NOVA WILD! (wildlife and natural world), and Out Of This World (space exploration).

STEM Scouts is a brand-new pilot program in the Greater St. Louis Area Council focused on fun and exciting opportunities for elementary through high school girls and boys in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM).

The program helps young people understand how to apply STEM concepts in their everyday lives as well as develop leadership and communication skills. By giving them the opportunity to connect with STEM professionals, students can use their experiences to explore potential future careers.

STEM Scouts puts boys and girls, grades 3-12, in labs led by volunteers and mentored by STEM professionals for fun, hands-on experiments. Kids will learn, play and lead. And they’ll do it in an environment that fosters teamwork and creativity.

The program aims to produce young men and women who:
• show leadership.
• display confidence.
• realize their skills and limitations.
• respect others’ opinions.
• become problem solvers in all aspects of life.
• look for opportunities to serve others.
• demonstrate good citizenship.
• show integrity in all phases of their lives.

STEM Scouts parallels the BSA in areas such as setting and achieving goals, uniforms, leadership skills, adult role models, and following the Scout Oath and Law.

Eagle Scout Earns National $25,000 Scholarship To Further Education

The phone call came on April Fool’s Day, but Frank Nash quickly realized this was not a prank call.

On April 1, 2015, Frank learned that he was the sole recipient of the National Eagle Scout Association’s $25,000 United Health Foundation college scholarship. According to its website, NESA receives more than 5,000 scholarship applications each year.

“I didn’t really know what to think,” recalled Frank. “It was a lot to take in at once. It’s a great relief to have it. It’s an honor to have it as well.”

The United Health Foundation scholarship is one of two academic scholarships offered. It is awarded to an applicant who plans to pursue a career in the healthcare arena and is willing to reinvest his knowledge and skills in an underserved community. For Frank, an Eagle Scout from Troop 403 chartered to Arcadia Valley Elks No. 2330 in the Ozark Trailblazers District, the scholarship will take him to the University of Missouri-Kansas City next year. He will study biology and minor in Spanish.

When he arrives on campus, Frank will arrive at college having already earned more than 40 college credits through his high school’s advanced placement program. In his senior year alone, Frank completed seven classes, including biology which is a five-hour class with a lab.

“As a mom, I don’t know that I could be any more proud or happy or blessed,” said Frank’s mom, Desiree Crocker. “You’re always proud to see your children able to succeed and go after their dreams, but to realize that we’re from a small town, population less than 2,000, and he was able to receive a scholarship on a national level, it’s great to see that he’s getting recognized elsewhere.”

As if taking a handful of college courses isn’t enough to keep Frank busy, his extracurricular schedule is just as lengthy and impressive. The Arcadia Valley High School senior is in the school math club, National Honor Society, common core, a community-service based club, Future Business Leaders of America, choir, and track. Oh, and he used to be involved in band and cross country as well.

With so many other things going on in Frank’s life, it would have been easy to drop Scouting along the way too, but he stayed with the program from Tiger Cub all the way to Eagle Scout — and earned nine additional Eagle Palms.

“Really, the people that I’ve been in [Scouting] with and the experiences that I’ve had,” Frank said of why he stayed involved in Scouting. “I’ve learned so many things. I’ve learned not only camping, fire, and cooking, but I’ve learned leadership, how to get along with others that I may not really talk to much in school. A teacher to younger kids to pass on some of the things I’ve learned and some of the tips that I’ve picked up along the way.”

Katie Bruton Selected As Mo. VFW Scout Of The Year

Annually, the Missouri VFW selects a Scout of the Year recipient for its scholarship. For 2015, they selected Katie Bruton from Union, Mo., who was sponsored by VFW Post 2661 in Washington, Mo.

Katie is a member of Sea Scout Ship 5454, Venture Crew 2783, and Explorer Aviation Post 2297 in the Greater St. Louis Area Council. Her awards and honors include the Sea Scout Quartermaster, Venturing Silver, National Youth Leadership Society, regional and area Venturing leadership awards, and the Philmont Training Center Masters Square Knot. She is a student at St. Francis Borgia High School in Washington, Mo., where she has a cumulative grade point average of 3.924.

Katie will receive a $1,000 scholarship award from the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Department of Missouri. In addition, her application packet has been forwarded to VFW National Headquarters for consideration in the VFW’s national scholarship awards selection.

Look What’s Possible With POPCORN!

Selling popcorn is a great way to fund your unit’s annual program. Money raised by units have been used to cover the cost of badges and advancement, special events, and pack and troop equipment. Not only do units benefit from selling popcorn, but these sales also benefit the council by providing better programs and camping facilities.

Every unit receives a unit sales kit at the popcorn training dinner (see Timeline & Training below). These kits include everything you need to have a successful fundraiser such as a leader guidebook, online selling poster and sales poster, popcorn sample, and a $600 prize incentive.

By selling popcorn, Scouts and Venturers:
- have an opportunity to pay for their Scouting or Venturing program and earn their way to camp.
- can earn cool rewards and even a college scholarship.
- will gain confidence and learn important skills such as goal-setting, teamwork, and public speaking.
- help reduce out-of-pocket expenses for their parents.

The popcorn sale supports our Scouting program by reducing expenses for Scouting and Venturing families and providing funding for packs and troops to carry out their activities. No other fundraiser supports the entire council paying for needed camp equipment, resources, programs, training for leaders, and much more.

Plan your sale now!

3 Ways To Sell

- DOOR-TO-DOOR
  Scouts travel through their neighborhoods asking neighbors, friends and family if they’d like to buy popcorn.

- SHOW ‘N’ SELL
  Your unit gets permission to set up a display with products for people to purchase as they walk by.

- ONLINE SALES
  Scouts can set up their own online store on the Trails End website. This is also the earliest way to sell popcorn because online sales start Aug. 1!

Recruiting new Scouts is a year-round effort; however, more youth join Scouting in the fall than any other time of the year.

In August, the Greater St. Louis Area Council begins its annual School Night campaign when it welcomes more than 5,000 new kids to the Scouting program. School Nights are held at every elementary school throughout the council to introduce boys and their families to Scouting.

Here are some ways your unit can help ensure a successful School Night:

- Participate in at least two sign-up programs this fall. First is the traditional School Night program already scheduled for each district (contact your district executive for the date).
- Second, units should also make arrangements to have a display table staffed by leaders at the school’s back-to-school programs normally held at the beginning of the school year.
- Classroom visits, school assemblies, and other visits to boys at school are great opportunities to tell the Scouting story. Units should coordinate with their district executive in arranging for these in-school programs.
- Prepare and share an information sheet about your unit and include your pack calendar. Also plan to have a budget and share this information with prospective new families.
- Display School Night yard signs at sign-up night and school display locations. These signs are available through your district executive.

Grow Your Unit With New Members This Fall

Put A Unit Marketing Plan Into Action

A great way to get new participants is by letting the public know about the fun, exciting things that the pack is doing. The Greater St. Louis Area Council will help get the word out, but the majority of your success comes from grassroots marketing.

Consider assigning a parent from the pack to head your marketing effort and consider some of the following techniques: yard signs; posters in schools/stores/work; announcements in neighborhood newspapers, school newspapers/newsletters, church bulletins, school and church marquees, etc.

Plan Your Program Year

The 2015-16 Program Guide is an invaluable reference and planning tool to be used all year long. The wide range of information will help your unit assemble a great calendar of activities. Copies are available at any council service center or by contacting your district executive. You can also access an online version at stlbsa.org.
Parents, Join The Adventure!

One of the most satisfying experiences a mom and/or dad can have with their son is to participate with him in his Cub Scout pack or den.

Cub Scouting encourages closeness to family. The program helps a parent and son grow closer through activities while spending quality time together.

While their son is a Cub Scout, parents have many opportunities to work with him on projects, help him along the advancement trail, participate in pack meetings, go on family campouts with him, and more.

Recruitment Night

How can you make your unit’s Scout recruitment night run smoothly?

- Welcome each boy and parent as they enter and ask each family to sign in.
- Hand out a sample Boys’ Life mini-magazine to each family.
- Have an opening ceremony.
- Explain what Scouting is.
- Hand out a unit information sheet and calendar and briefly explain the unit’s activities.
- Go over how the unit works and introduce all the volunteers and leaders in attendance.
- For Cub Scouts, divide into program groups: Tigers, Wolves, Bears and Webelos.
- Collect applications and the $24 BSA fee that night. Discuss the unit’s budget for the upcoming year and explain how Scouts can earn their own way through popcorn and camp card sales.
- Review when the next meeting is and the location.
- Keep the structured part of the night to 30-45 minutes.
- Make the event fun and enjoyable by adding enthusiasm to the presentations.
- Submit applications and fees to the district headquarters that evening.

Find recruitment materials at stlbsa.org/program-preview.

West Fellowship Keeps Scouting Ready For The Future

The James E. West Fellowship Award is a BSA recognition presented by the council for individuals and chartered units who contribute $1,000 or more in cash or securities to the GSLAC James West Fellowship fund. Organizations or individuals may contribute an award in honor of someone — an Eagle Scout, a Silver Beaver recipient, a Scouter — or in memory of a departed loved one. Those who are recognized by the James E. West Fellowship Award ensure the Scouting legacy by helping create the financial stability needed to carry Scouting forward.

Become The Best Scouter You Can Be

Ever wonder what those wooden beads are around some Scouters’ necks? They are Wood Badge beads!

Wood Badge is Scouting’s premier training course designed to develop more effective Scouters. The purpose of Wood Badge is to help develop many new leadership skills and techniques in order to deliver the highest quality Scouting program and stronger leadership for America.

The Wood Badge course is held on two weekends, and attendance is required at both. The next course is at Camp Lewallen on Aug. 14-16 and Aug. 28-30. Participants must have completed basic leader training (Cub Scout, Boy Scout, Venture) for their Scouting position prior to Wood Badge.

Course fee is $275.

For more information and to register, visit stlbsa.org/training/wood-badge.

Build Relationships With Den Chief Training

The Den Chief Program is a key means of building relationships between the Cub Scout pack and the Boy Scout troop.

A den chief is a Boy Scout who assists a den leader at meetings and other Scouting events. A valuable source of guidance, skills, songs, and games, the den chief encourages the boys in their advancement and shares his enthusiasm for Scouting with the den.

The next Den Chief Conference is slated for Aug. 22 at Beaumont Scout Reservation. This one-day conference trains current and aspiring den chiefs on how to work with Cub Scouts.

Learn more at stlbsa.org/training/youth/den-chief-training.

LOE Prepares You For Outdoor Adventure

Are you planning to take your Cub Scouts on an overnight camping trip? You will first need Leader Outdoor Experience (LOE) training.

There is no need to be terrified of the unknown — this course will prepare you for your den or pack’s next outdoor adventure!

This training is open to all leaders within the pack including Tiger, Wolf, Bear, and Webelos leaders as well as Cubmasters. Learn about camp facilities, basic cooking and camping skills, and find great resources for your den.

Upcoming courses are Oct. 10-11 at Beaumont Scout Reservation or Oct. 17-18 at Camp Lewallen.

Live Scouting’s Adventure At ‘17 National Jamboree

Before you depart for the 2015 World Jamboree in Japan this summer, mark your calendar for the 2017 National Jamboree.

Ron Gjerstad, a Scouter with more than 25 years of experience, has been appointed by Scout Executive Ron Green to represent the Greater St. Louis Area Council as our council contingent leader.

Registration can be completed online at bsajamboree.org. A My.Scouting username and password are required. Visit My.Scouting.org if you don’t have a My.Scouting account and follow the directions to create one. The My.Scouting account must be in the name of the person attending the jamboree and will be linked to his/her current, active BSA membership number.

Check jamboree.stlbsa.org often for payment schedule and details. Scouts and families should begin saving now for this memorable trip. All costs have not been set, but plan on approximately $2,000 total.

Scouters interested in serving as contingent leaders should apply online at summit.scouting.org and submit a resume to Tony Fouts, jamboree staff adviser, at the MacArthur Service Center by mail, 4568 West Pine Blvd., St. Louis, MO 63108; or email, anthony.fouts@scouting.org.

Adults not selected during the interview process may apply for jamboree staff-at-large positions.

Tentative Timeline

• Now — Interested Scouts, Venturers, potential troop leaders, and youth and adult staff register online. Scouts and Venturers go through the local, regional, and national approval process.
• Late 2015/Early 2016 — troop leader candidate interviews conducted and leaders selected.
• Spring 2017 — jamboree troop meetings with Scouts and adult leadership take place.
• July 2017 — troops depart for jamboree.

For more information, contact Ron Gjerstad at rongjerstad@buchheitonline.com; or Tony Fouts at anthony.fouts@scouting.org or 314-256-3124.

Show Us How You’ve Enhanced Scouting’s Image!

Your unit can earn the Beacon Award — a ribbon for your unit’s flag — by performing civic service, providing an honor guard for ceremonies, or completing other activities that positively displays the Scouting program to the general public.

Examples are:
• a uniformed color guard for a civic ceremony, such as a parade or other public event.
• a flag raising and/or flag retirement ceremony; leading the Pledge of Allegiance at a public meeting.
• service to an outside organization, such as staffing an information booth at a county fair or assisting with logistics at a community event.

Submit a photograph of your Scouts in action at the event being good representatives of the BSA. Scouts should wear as complete a uniform as they possess, unless the event calls for work clothes.

The Beacon Award was established in 2008 as a new initiative to show the community what Scouting is all about. The award is limited to one per unit, per year.

For more information or to find out how your unit can earn a Beacon Award, visit stlbsa.org/awards.

DON’T FORGET ABOUT UNIFORMS – FOR EVERYONE!
Okpik Prepares Campers For Winter Wonderland

What could be more exhilarating than camping in wintertime? The crisp fresh air. Snow-covered hills. Hot chocolate or coffee brewing over the campfire.

Okpik cold-weather camping training enables leaders to extend their unit’s outdoor camping season to a full 12 months.

The Okpik cold-weather program teaches Scout leaders how to be comfortable and safe while camping in cold weather. These unique skills are delivered in a safe environment and culminates in a 24-hour outdoor overnight session that tests new-found skills while enjoying Scout fellowship and competition.

This is not a survival skills session. It is an opportunity to learn about how winter camping can be fun and exciting — and enjoyable! The program takes place in a troop setting, where each participant is assigned to a unique cold-weather patrol.

Four troop meetings are mandatory for graduation, with the fourth session being a weekend outdoor overnight adventure. Topics of instruction include cold-weather dress, first aid, menu, and equipment.

The course is open to all registered adult leaders, and to youth who meet the following requirements:

- Must be 14 years old.
- Achieved First Class rank or higher by Oct. 1, 2015.
- Have long-term camping experience.
- Obtain Scoutmaster’s approval.

Venturers may participate with the same requirements, minus the First Class rank.

The Okpik program’s first three sessions are scheduled for Dec. 5 and 19* and Jan. 9. The overnight session is Jan. 16-17. All sessions take place at Beaumont Scout Reservation.

*Note: The Program Guide incorrectly listed the second session as Dec. 12.

Okpik was created by the BSA’s Northern Tier High Adventure Bases at the Charles L. Sommers Canoe Base in Ely, Minn. The word Okpik — pronounced OOk’ pick — is Inuit for Snowy Owl.
